

Students' Expectation of Online Courses

(Work in progress)

This is the preliminary report of a survey of students taking online courses in a private California university. At the present time the project is in the process of being analyzed.